REPORT 500 WOUNDED IN SANTIAGO REVOLT AGAINST PRESIDENT

Rioters Clubbed By Police In Streets Of Chile Capital

BUENOS AIRES, July 24.—Five hundred persons were wounded in revolutionary rioting in Santiago, capital of Chile, last night and early today, according to a telephone message to International News Service.

Most of the injured were civilians who were clubbed by police as they surged through the streets of Santiago shouting "down with President Ibanez." At the time International News Service talked with Santiago, the situation was somewhat quieter, but the serious fighting was expected momentarily as carabineers prepared to attack 2,000 students who had transformed a university building into a fort.

A new cabinet, headed by Senor Carlos Froedden, friends of President Ibanez, was attempting to maintain order today. It took the place of the cabinet of Senor Francisco Garcia Cana, which resigned yesterday after serving only a day. That cabinet had succeeded another which had itself been forced only eight days previously.

Heavily-armed troops occupied the center of Santiago today and it appeared that the army was still loyal to the president. If it continued so, it seemed likely today that Ibanez would emerge from the struggle as dictator.

However, in well-informed quarters of Buenos Aires, doubt was expressed that the president could maintain his position. Former President Alessandri and his sons and nephews who were exiled at various times by Ibanez are at present in this city waiting for an opportunity to return to Chile.

Outbursts against the Ibanez regime were reported from other sections of Chile. Workmen and students at Valparaiso clashed with police during rioting in that city last night.

PLANE FAILS TO TAKE-OFF

Flight To Turkey Is Postponed

NEW YORK, July 24.—Russell Boardman and John Polando, Boston flyers, made an unsuccessful attempt today to start their long distance flight to Istanbul, Turkey. With Boardman at the controls, their huge monoplane sailed away from Floyd Bennett Field this morning but landed almost immediately when Boardman failed to gain altitude.

The ship was only twenty feet over Jamaica Bay and Boardman guided it back to the field, where he made a safe landing. The tail skid struck sparks on the concrete runway and some gasoline, which had been spilled, was ignited but the ship was not damaged.

Boardman disclosed on landing that when he saw he could not gain altitude with the 725 gallons of gas in the plane and fearing a crash, he dumped more than 400 gallons.

HAWKS SETS RECORD FOR HAVANA FLIGHT

NEW YORK, July 24.—Captain Frank M. Hawks slept late today after his record-breaking one-day flight to Havana.

Leaving here Thursday morning at 4 a. m. Hawks flew to Havana in eight hours and eight minutes and he made the return trip, 1,400 miles, in seven hours and thirty-one minutes, arriving here at 9:30 last night. Both times established new records.

Hawks said his average speed was about 187 miles an hour.

The American speedster's new records bring his total for record transcontinental flights and inter-city trips in America and Europe to thirty.

SPURNS AID — DIES

CHICAGO, July 24.—Coast guardsmen today sought the body of Curtis Chesterton, 23, medical student, who was drowned when he repulsed rescue efforts of his friend, Ruth Jones, 22, in the fear that she, too, would go down in Lake Michigan.

"Go it alone," he gasped, and pushed himself away from the girl, sinking almost immediately, a victim of cramps.

ENTERTAIN FLYERS

CHICAGO, July 24.—Plans were completed today for the entertainment to be accorded Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, round-the-world flyers, who will be headliners at a two-day air meet Saturday and Sunday.

GRAF ZEPPELIN STARTS TRIP

ASKS PRESIDENT TO WITHHOLD SURPLUS GRAIN FROM MARKET

Ohio's Agriculture Chief Claims Plan Would Raise Price

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—Picturing the troublesome wheat problem as "the ghost that haunts American agriculture," State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery today again called upon President Hoover to order the federal farm board's 2,000,000 bushel surplus withheld from the market.

Accompanying his request, the second made since Ohio wheat prices hit rock-bottom, was a statement estimating that hundreds of Ohio farmers this year will lose $6 an acre on all the wheat they harvested.

Excerpts culled from an avalanche of letters received since his first statement, revealing that in all parts of the nation "sentiment seems to be against the farm board," and in general accord with his suggestion, were made public simultaneously.

"It is the duty of the President of the United States to order his farm board to withhold from the market this 2,000,000 bushel surplus," today's statement said.

His original statement, cloaked in sterner language, made the same demand, and added that "nobody would cry or protest if the farm board would hire ships and dump this entire surplus into the ocean."

Guthery today reiterated that farm board action of the type he asked would almost save the wheat situation.

"Any plan to withhold this wheat from the market will raise the price of 1931 wheat close to eighty cents a bushel," he declared.

The dismal outlook for Ohio wheat as forecast by Guthery predicted a $3 per acre loss each for the farm tenant and the landlord.

Explaining how many farmers are forced to market their wheat at less than production cost, the director said:

"There are Ohio farms where wheat, this year, made twenty-eight bushels to the acre. At forty cents a bushel the landlord and the tenant each received $5.60 an acre. The cost to the tenant was $5 an acre in preparing the ground, buying his seed and planting his wheat, in addition to a cost of $2 an acre to combine it. It cost him $3 for interest, depreciation and labor of delivery some miles to market. He has lost about $3 an acre on his operations."

"The tax on the land, owned by the landlord, is more than $2 an acre, while interest on the mortgage standing against it is $5.50 an acre. The upkeep of the land will average $1 an acre. The landlord has also lost close to $3 on each acre planted in wheat."

No answer from the White House or the farm board having been received from the original statement, copies of today's declaration would not be sent to Washington, it was said.

Favorable comment, however, was received from scores of legislators, agriculture officials, editors and college professors.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Estimates compiled today by the bureau of agricultural economics indicate the world wheat crop will likely be 250,000,000 to 300,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year, but larger than the 1929 crop.

The bureau said the most significant changes in the prospective size of crops compared with last year are in the foreign surplus producing countries.

Although official estimates of the Canadian crop are not available, unofficial estimates indicate it may be reduced by more than 150,000,000 bushels. By reducing acreage, Argentina and Australia together may reduce their crops close to 100,000,000 bushels. Some reduction is expected in the Russian crop. The Balkan countries also are harvesting smaller crops. Many importing countries, on the other hand, are harvesting better crops than last season.

Surplus producing countries generally are ready to resume business on friendly terms.

The Gillette company charged that the cigar store chain obtained a contract through misrepresentation of the volume of its sales.

The suit brought against the Gillette company by minority stockholders for $21,000,000 is still in the hearing stage in Suffolk County superior court. The minority stockholders charged that directors were negligent for four years beginning in 1924.

CONVICTS IN CELLS TO PREVENT ESCAPE

JOLIET, Ill., July 24.—All the 2,500 men in the New Stateville "model" prison were locked in their cells today, with absolutely no communication to the outside, either by mail or by visitors.

This drastic measure was ordered by Warden Henry C. Hill after the second riot scare of a week, in which it was rumored that ammunition and firearms had been smuggled in and that the convicts were plotting to destroy a three-fourths completed new cell-house.

It was indicated, until a thorough search is made of the sixty-four acres within the prison walls, a procedure that may take a week or ten days.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING FARMER

WASHINGTON, C. H., O., July 24.—Held in the Fayette County jail here, Miles Gariand, 19, of Carter, Tenn., today stoutly denied police charges that he interrupted Thomas Anders, 50, a farmer, just as he was ready to go to bed, and forced his host to drive him away after robbing him of $50.

Gariand was arrested at Greenfield, O., Thursday and charged with the robbery. Anders was reported to have identified him as the youth who interrupted him Wednesday night as he was preparing to go to bed after returning from a prayer meeting.

Anders, totally nude, was forced to drive the bandit to a place near Greenfield, O., he said. He declared the intruder took a suitcase of his clothing with him.

AIMEE'S SON WEDS AT GREAT SHOW

Amidst wild applause Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, married her son, Rolf McPherson, to Lora Dee Smith, formerly of Oklahoma, while 10,000 persons crowded around her at Angelus Temple, Los Angeles. The "show" was topped off with a collection and the crowd burst into vociferous cheers as the 18-year-old groom kissed the 20-year-old bride.

MAN KILLS WIFE, DAUGHTER AND SON, THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., July 24.—A blood-stained and opened purse containing $7 that was found on the floor in a circle of four lifeless bodies in the Pittinger home here, today led authorities to set up a theory that the family massacre was the result of a domestic quarrel over money.

Following an investigation, Coroner F. X. Schuller returned a verdict today of murder and suicide. He said it was evident that Herbert Pittinger, 41-year-old husband and father, had slain his wife and children and then committed suicide.

The victims of the family tragedy in addition to Pittinger were: Pittinger's wife, Flora, 38; Ardith Pittinger, their 14-year-old daughter, and James Pittinger, 10, a son. The bodies were discovered when neighbors, with whom the Pittingers were to have gone on an outing yesterday, were unable to arouse anyone at the home. Police were called and entrance was forced into the house.

BATTLE AMONG BEER DEALERS IS BLAMED FOR RACKET REPORT

State And Federal Agents Withdraw From Probe

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—Acting on an "inside tip," police today arrested two Columbus men as suspects in the murder on June 30 of Harry Beasley, a Newark policeman who was slain when he surprised two men stealing a safe.

Clyde Connor, 27, and Jesse Evans, 20, both of the same Columbus address, were the men taken into custody. Their arrest followed a two-hour grilling.

In addition to the Beasley murder, in which the policeman was killed with two revolver bullets, Connor and Evans also will be questioned, police said, about a series of Columbus safe-crackings and various burglaries of a similar nature.

Authorities said they believed Connor and Evans shot patrolman Beasley, who was a former world war hero, because they feared their arrest would expose their alleged activities in both Columbus and Newark, where they were reputed to have "hide-outs."

COMEDIAN'S WIFE TO SEEK DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—Mrs. Marjorie Robinson Mack will file suit for divorce Monday against her husband, Charles Mack, member of the "Two Black Crows" comedy team, she announced today.

Her complaint, she said, will contain charges similar to those made by her husband when he started divorce action in New York, summing up which were served on her Wednesday. She will fight his suit, she stated, "to the bitter end."

INGRAM OPERATED ON

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—William P. "Navy Bill" Ingram, football coach at the University of California, was recovering today from a successful emergency operation for appendicitis.

LEAVES FOR ARCTIC ON TRIP IMPORTANT AS SCIENTIFIC TEST

American Explorer On Board; Ready For Emergency

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, July 24.—The Graf Zeppelin started on the first lap of her voyage to the Arctic today. Her first stop will be Berlin and her second Leningrad.

Converted into a "flying laboratory" and with sixteen passengers and a crew of thirty, the Graf will make a cruise of great importance to science. It has been undertaken under the auspices of the International Aero-Arctic Society.

Among those on board were Lincoln Ellsworth, American explorer, who accompanied Amundsen and Nobile on their flight across the north pole to Alaska in the dirigible Norge, and Lieut. Commander Edward H. Smith, of the American Ice Patrol.

In charge of the scientific aspects of the flight is Professor Samoilovitch of Petrograd, assisted by Captain Bruns of Berlin. If the weather continues favorable on the first two laps of the flight, the Graf will continue towards the Arctic via Archangel and Novaya Zembla.

Many geographers of world wide reputation have collaborated in drawing up a programme of geographic research for the expedition.

By means of the Graf's radio equipment, Commander Beckner will endeavor to keep in constant touch with the German marine observatory at Hamburg.

The Graf was due at Staaken airfield at Berlin at six tonight.

For days before the flight started, experts of the Zeppelin works were busy remodeling the huge dirigible in preparation for the Arctic journey.

Luxury and comfort were sacrificed to some extent to give the scientists plenty of space for their experiments and calculations. The deep-cushioned chairs and sofas which passengers on the Graf's ocean journeys enjoyed were replaced by make room for one long table and seats of light metal. Reduction of sleeping compartments allowed installation of delicate scientific apparatus.

The huge dirigible was equipped with pontoons to enable an emergency descent upon arctic waters if necessary. Other alterations include a ventilating shaft, a "torpedo" tube through which photographs can be taken, and a third shaft through which small recording balloons can be released. In addition, there is a metal-free compartment for electro-magnetic calculations.

Passengers and crew face no danger of starvation, even in the event of disaster. The Graf carries 2,510 pounds of comestibles, including four tons of pemmican, which will keep the voyagers alive for months in an emergency. The large is stocked with bread, meat, sausages, vegetables, potatoes, cheese, butter, coffee, tea, dried fruit, corn, canned milk, sugar, eggs, cake, and cookies. Two hundred quarts of mineral water and a few bottles of whiskey and cognac also were placed aboard.

The aero-arctic society made adequate provisions to enable all aboard to keep alive if the Graf should be crippled in the arctic. Equipment for each member of the expedition includes heavy underwear, a woolen suit, sweater, muffler and snow glasses. Five large rubber boats, two kayaks (unsinkable canoes), twelve sleds, twelve tents, a quantity of sail-cloth, gasoline stoves and hunting equipment.

The projected route will take the Graf from Leningrad over Nova Zembla and thence into the Polar Area.

JEALOUS HUSBAND KILLS WIFE, SELF

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 24.—Driven insane by jealousy of imaginary "admirers" of his wife, John Kalendiak, 35, shot and killed his wife, Anna, 31, an expectant mother, and then took his own life in their apartment here today.

Neighbors said Kalendiak had long been insanely jealous of his wife and accused her of being untrue to him.

Police found Kalendiak crumpled over the body of his dying wife. He was dead of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The wife was rushed to the Sacred Heart Hospital where her baby was born just before she died. The infant lived only an hour.

ASHLAND COUNTY BANK IS CLOSED

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—The Bank of the Nova Banking Co., at Nova, Ashland County, was closed today by order of officials of the bank. General business depression was assigned as the cause for the bank's failure.

The bank's affairs was taken over by Ira J. Fulton, state banking superintendent, who placed Chas. W. Miller, liquidating agent for the banking department, in charge.

The Nova Bank was capitalized at $25,000 and had resources totaling $115,000.

J. J. Dieter was president of the institution and Guy B. Murray, cashier.

SUES WHAT-A-MAN

"What-a-Man" Guy Edward Hudson's troubles continue to pile up. Mrs. Ethel Lee Parker Harbert is seen filing a $250,000 heart balm suit, in Los Angeles, while his bride of three weeks, "Ma" Kennedy, has obtained an annulment and bigamy charges loom in Washington state.

PROSECUTOR FREED IN BLACKMAIL CASE AND OUSTER DENIED

Youngstown Official Victorious In Long Legal Fight

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 24.—Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas of Mahoning County today was found not guilty of blackmailing Harry J. Engle, ousted Youngstown traction commissioner, in a decision handed down by Judge H. W. Jewell of Delaware, who presided at the trial by assignment of the state supreme court.

A joint decision refusing to remove Thomas from the office of Mahoning County prosecutor was rendered at the same time by the special tribunal of judges in charge of the probe of the Mahoning County political scandal.

The ouster decision was handed down by Judges Jewell, Alfred Mack of Cincinnati, and A. J. Pearson of Cleveland. They were assigned here to investigate reported illegal connections of public officials with utility companies.

The blackmail trial of the prosecutor was finished a week ago today, after more than four weeks had been spent in taking testimony.

Only three days were required this week for arguments in the ouster hearing. No testimony was presented.

Thomas, on the stand in his own defense, made a blanket denial of every charge brought against him.

The blackmail count resulted from a letter Thomas allegedly sent to city council last February, demanding that council ouster Engle because of traction commissioner because Engle "was using the prosecutor's office to further a gigantic blackmail scheme."

Engle, the state star witness, testified he had hired the prosecutor to act as his agent in collecting $150,000 from the Penn-Ohio Power and Light Co. for services Engle claimed he had rendered under an "A and B" contract.

Thomas denied he had ever accepted Engle's offer to act as his agent and testified he had "sought Engle's confidence" in order to obtain evidence with which he could force the traction commissioner to testify against himself at a grand jury investigation.

All of the testimony in the blackmail trial was accepted as evidence in the prosecutor's ouster hearing. More than 4,400 persons signed the petitions asking Thomas' removal from office. The petitions contained sixteen charges of irregularities, all except three of which were dropped by the judges because the alleged violations occurred during one of Thomas' previous terms of office.

BECKLEY, W. Va., July 24.—A search for a motive in the murder of Mrs. Marie Otero, 26, said to have been stuck a fatal blow with an ax she was holding for her husband, Frank Otero, 46, to sharpen was started today by police.

Suddenly enraged, Otero leaped up, swung the ax at his wife, according to police. A 20-months old baby Mrs. Otero was holding in her lap was struck a glancing blow.

Police declared that Otero admitted the killing but gave no excuse or explanation for the act.

Otero was kneeling beside his wife, sharpening the blade with a file, according to two other children, who were said to have witnessed the slaying. They were talking in Spanish, and had been quarrelling, the children said.

Otero and his wife recently came here from Colorado and had quarrelled violently on several occasions, neighbors said.

POSTPONE FLIGHT

SEATTLE, July 24.—Another postponement of the Seattle-Tokyo non-stop refueling flight planned by Reginald L. Robbins and H. S. Jones, Texas aviators, was caused today by unfavorable weather conditions. Their first attempt ended near Nome when the "Fort Worth" was unable to take on a big enough load of gas from the refueling plane.

TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Treasury balance as of July 23, $321,385,391.14; expenditures $9,930,968.34; Customs receipts, $23,558,253.66.

REFERENDUM ASKED IN FRANCHISE CASE ENJOINED BY COURT

Mandamus Is Dismissed; Section Of Charter Held Illegal

Action of the city commission is upheld, and existing contracts between the city and the Dayton Power and Light Co., sustained by Judge Walter D. Jones of Troy in an opinion handed down Friday in three cases involving the franchise and contract ordinances with that utility.

The court made permanent the injunction against holding a referendum election on the franchise and contract ordinances passed by city commission and accepted by the Dayton Power and Light Co.

The opinion holds that the initiated ordinance granting a franchise to the Citizens Public Service Co., opposing contender for the power and light contract, should be submitted to a referendum, and the court order temporarily restraining City Auditor H. A. Higgins from certifying such ordinance and initiative petitions to the board of elections is dissolved.

The section of the city charter with regard to referendum on utility ordinances, under which the opposition to the granting of the franchises to the Dayton Power and Light Co., proceeded, is held unconstitutional by Judge Jones' decision.

A mandamus suit brought by a committee composed of W. H. Domes and others against the city commission, to compel the commission to submit the present Dayton Power and Light franchise and ordinance to a referendum was dismissed.

An election of the initiated ordinance granting a "limited" franchise to the Dayton Power and Light Co., that is, a franchise to operate until such time as the Citizens' Public Service Co. might be ready to begin operations, was permanently enjoined. The court held that to adopt such a franchise would be a waste of time and money, since it would not be accepted by The Dayton Power and Light Co., seeking only a full time franchise.

The ordinances initiated by the Citizens Public Service Co., were certified to the board of elections by the city auditor, as clerk of commission and the court sustained him in this, except holding it would be useless to hold an election on the one ordinance granting a "limited" franchise to the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Costs in the cases are assessed against the contesting light companies, and the relators in the mandamus suit.

Action of the court in making perpetual the injunction against a referendum election on the city's contracts with the Dayton Power and Light Co., and also sustaining an election on the initiated ordinance granting a franchise to the Citizens' Public Service Co., creates an involved legal question in the light controversy, it is believed.

It really means that in the event such a referendum election was held and the election won by the Citizens' Public Service Co., it is believed.

erally, had on hand, July 1 last, larger stocks than on the same day a year ago. The increase in accountable stocks may amount to 100,000,000 bushels, stocks in importing countries, on the other hand, are probably smaller than a year ago. Russia is still an uncertain factor.

The carryover from the large crop of the past season is probably larger than that from the previous season. A larger acreage of wheat has been sown in Russia but a repetition of the very high yields of the past season is hardly to be expected.

Practically all of the European importing countries, except the United Kingdom and Denmark, are restricting imports. France, Germany and Italy each have recently advanced their domestic wheat milling requirements to improve the domestic market for their new wheat crops. Prospects are for a smaller rye crop in Europe. In Germany rye stocks have been reduced to a low level and the new crop is likely to be considerably smaller than that of the past season. The effects of prospective increased wheat production in some European countries may be offset in part by reductions in the rye crop.

The price of new wheat in the United States has been adjusted approximately to an export basis, the report said. "Conditions as of July 1 indicate a large production of hard winter wheat in the United States and some increase in soft winter. The condition of the spring wheat and durum crops as of July 1 indicate on the other hand, the second shortest crop of these wheats in the past twenty years."

"The supply of hard and red spring wheat east of the Rocky Mountains seems likely to be less than the domestic requirements for this type of wheat. Early reports indicate that while the hard winter wheat from the southwest is of high quality, the average protein content of the present crop may be lower than that of the crop of 1930."

FENCE TO SURROUND BIG AKRON AIRPORT

AKRON, O., July 24—Erection of what will be the largest fence in Ohio has been started at Akron municipal airport in preparation for the test flight of the new Navy dirigible, Akron.

A total of 18,000 feet of fence will surround the port. The fence is for the express purpose of insuring that the multitude of persons expected to be present for the test flights, will stay out of the zone needed by the giant airship for its maneuvers.

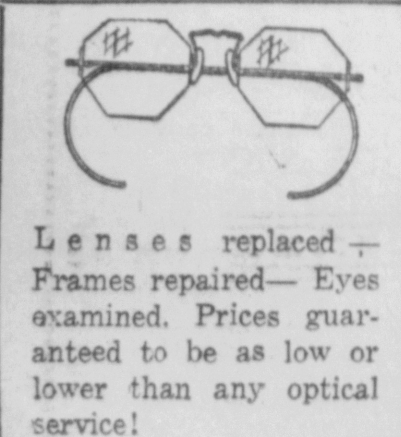

Except on one of the airport, the fence will be of the woven wire type, five feet high. The east side of the airport is to be provided with 4,000 feet of temporary "snow fence" which can be put in place during the flights and removed to avoid interference with other aerial activities on the field.

MADISON COUNTY IS NOT PARTIAL

LONDON, O., July 24—Although most counties in the United States showing a steady decline in the number of marriage licenses issued and an increase in divorce actions filed, Madison County had the same number of licenses issued and divorces started the first six months of this year as in 1930.

Sixty-seven couples secured licenses to wed in the county in the first half of this year, with sixty-seven granted during the same period last year.

Club Members Enjoy July Dinner Dance

THE Xenia Country Club was the scene of another delightful affair Thursday evening when the July dinner dance was held. The evening was ideal for the occasion and the affair was one of the most charming ever held at the club.

Reservations had been made for ninety-eight persons for the dinner, including a party of eighteen guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chew and another group of fourteen guests to which Mrs. C. H. Little was hostess. Tables were placed on the lawn and a three course dinner was served there.

7:30 o'clock. The tables were centered with bouquets of flowers and candles and a color scheme of red and white was carried out in the appointments.

Later dancing was enjoyed on the out-of-doors pavilion and about forty additional guests came for the dancing program. Music was furnished by Harry Gehring's Orchestra, Dayton. Guests who did not dance enjoyed other diversions at the club.

Miss Helen Little was chairman of the dinner dance and her assistants were Mrs. James D. Adair, Mrs. John E. Barlow, Mrs. Charles Fisher and Mr. Marcus McCallister.

Mrs. Opal Weaver, 125 E. Third St., who underwent an operation at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dayton, Thursday remains in a serious condition.

COUNSEL FOR LIGHT UTILITY HAS NOT DECIDED UPON APPEAL

Whether an appeal will be taken from the decision of Judge Walter D. Jones of Troy in enjoining a special election on city ordinances granting franchises to the Dayton Power and Light Co., has not been decided, Attorney Charles L. Darlington of counsel for the Citizens' Public Service Co., said Friday.

Mr. Darlington made the following statement:

"February 26, 1931, there was filed with the City Commission a petition initiating the adoption of an ordinance to grant a franchise to the Citizens Public Service Co. to furnish this city and its inhabitants with electricity for light and power purposes. The commission refused to pass the ordinance. Thereupon additional petitions, signed by more than 25 per cent of voters of this city were filed requesting the submission of the ordinance to a vote of the electors of this city. The Dayton Power and Light Co. then brought suit in the Common Pleas Court to enjoin the submission of this question to the electors claiming that the petitions were not in accordance with law for various reasons. Judge Jones has held that none of the objections to the petitions were well taken and dissolved the injunction. A special election will therefore be held on this question unless the Dayton Power and Light Co. secures an injunction from some higher court.

After the filing with the City Commission of the petitions requesting the passing of an ordinance granting a franchise to the Citizens Public Service Company, the City Commission passed three ordinances granting a franchise to the Dayton Power and Light Co. Petitions were then filed and signed by more than 25 per cent of the electors in this city requesting the City Commission to repeal these three ordinances, and requesting a special election if these ordinances were not repealed. They were not repealed and the Dayton Power and Light Co. brought an injunction suit in the Common Pleas Court seeking to enjoin a special election on this question claiming the petitions were not in accordance with law. Judge Jones has held that these petitions were not in accordance with law and has enjoined a special election on these ordinances.

"Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, attorneys for The Citizens Public Service Co., and Fairbanks, Morse and Co. have not yet determined whether an appeal will be taken from the latter decision. Our position has been that if the courts uphold the legality of the petitions for an ordinance granting a franchise to the Citizens Public Service Co. the action of the commission in granting a franchise to the Dayton Power and Light Co. after our petitions were filed would be null and void. The legality of that franchise was not involved in any of the litigation and of course Judge Jones did not pass upon it. He does hold that it cannot be attacked by the referendum petitions."

WILMINGTON PIKE TRAFFIC DETOURED AS PAVING STARTED

Traffic is being detoured on the Wilmington Pike through the Union road about a mile while employees of the state highway maintenance department are at work leveling up the grade preparing for the contractor who will widen and re-surface the road in Greene County.

The short detour was made necessary at the Xenia end of the road owing to the rains of the last week. Henry W. Walsh, resident engineer for the state highway department, said that short detours will be arranged at different points on the pike as the contractor places the new surface on the road.

The Republic Asphalt Paving Co., of Dayton, which has the contract for increasing the width of the pike its entire length of 8.4 miles in Greene County to twenty feet, has commenced its work at this end, and has about a mile of the edge dug up on the right side. It is the intention to keep the road open while the work is in progress, so far as possible, but short detours will be arranged while the surface is being applied, Engineer Walsh said.

The road will be widened to the regulation twenty feet by the addition of a concrete pavement three feet wide on either side. An asphalt and stone surface, machine finished and rolled into place will put the pike in excellent condition. It will be three or four days before the paving company is able to begin work in earnest on its contract, owing to the operations of the maintenance department which is removing the humps and otherwise leveling the grade.

Work on the Dayton-Xenia Pike is not progressing fast, wet weather having interfered with the contractors. Rain and high water have held up the pouring of cement in the new bridge that has been made necessary through establishment of a new route eliminating the dangerous curve on Anderson's hill. It was impossible to use the muddy creek water in mixing the concrete and arrangements were made to catch clear spring water draining the nearby terrain, for that purpose. On the other section under repair, culverts are being built near Zimmerman. Elimination of the long detour is not in sight.

Many motorists between Dayton and Xenia are using the Xenia-Fairfield Pike through the villages of Osborn and Fairfield, which increases the distance, but affords use of fine roads throughout.

WOMAN BURNED SERIOUSLY BY GASOLINE FIRE

Mrs. Andrew Gastiger, 53, Trebein, is in McClellan Hospital suffering from burns on her back and legs and right arm received when gasoline with which she was cleaning caught on fire Friday morning. Physicians say her condition is serious.

Mrs. Gastiger was cleaning a mattress in an upstairs room of her home and it is not known if the fire started from friction or if Mrs. Gastiger stepped on a match as several matches were lying nearby. With her clothing in flames Mrs. Gastiger ran downstairs and extinguished the fire with water. The only other person in the house at the time was her daughter, Betty, 10, as Mr. Gastiger was at work with the Dayton Power and Light Co. She was later removed to the hospital.

A small portion of wall paper was burned but the blaze was extinguished by neighbors.

FARMERS ANXIOUS FOR FAIR WEATHER TO FINISH HARVEST

With fair and warmer weather predicted, it is likely that wheat and oats threshing, suspended for a week in Greene County owing to a series of storms, will be resumed in a day or so, farm leaders say.

Farmers whose shocked wheat is beginning to sprout as well as those whose grain is still standing waiting for harvest and threshing by the combine, are getting anxious for dry weather. So far little damage has been done to the wheat through sprouting, which has been noticed chiefly in shocks blown about by the storms and not standing upright.

Those who have allowed their wheat to remain uncut are trying to convince themselves that they are better off than their neighbors who cut their grain in the old fashioned way.

Fields are too wet to admit threshing or combining outfits even if the grain was dry enough to thresh, which it is not.

Corn, beaten down severely by the wind and rain, is beginning to rise, and while much of it will not stand upright again, it has been so greatly benefited by the rains that it is predicted, if nothing else goes wrong, Greene County farmers will harvest an average or better than average crop.

THE "BEAUTY" THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

NOTHING is sadder than a girl who just misses being beautiful. Often the reason is simple—improper elimination.

The poisons from constipation often cause pimples, sallow skin, dull eyes—headaches and even serious disease.

But every girl can banish the evils of constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Its bulk sweeps the system clean.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are a wonderful health prescription. Try it with milk. Add fruits or honey. Delicious when combined with canned peaches. ALL-BRAN is non-fattening.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Behold the whirlwind of the Lord goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind: it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.—Jeremiah, xxx, 23.

PRODIGAL SONS

Petitions to the courts, asking for the appointment of a guardian, committee, conservator, or whatever such an authority may be called in various states, for some person who was wasting his money, used to be somewhat common. Today plenty of people are wasting their money, but it seems as if it usually goes in a different way. They do their prodigaling after modern style.

The old fashioned prodigal spent his money on wine, women, and song, so to speak. He was a natural waster, idler, and drifter. He could never say "No" he threw his money around, and attracted other prodigals who fed on his bounty. Women married men like that, because such ones were apt to have a pleasant manner that might mislead a majority of them.

The world is full of ambition today, and there are probably not so many men who waste their entire substance on merely pleasures. They are keen to get money. So a multitude of them go in for speculations, and waste their money on foolish risks. Or they become gamblers, and their love for cards or games of chance becomes a passion they can not control.

They are sanguine fellows, and they always dream of some sudden stroke of fortune. If Lady Luck does smile on them for a moment, and give them a reward, they are not satisfied to invest it wisely. If they make $10,000 on a stock deal, immediately they dream of becoming millionaires, and they lose it on some still more hazardous scheme which probably leaves them stranded again.

The modern prodigal is not usually a degraded creature like the old kind, but he may be equally dangerous to the trusting wife or the suitor's reputation for steady industry, before taking chances on such characters.

"CONCENTRATED RETALIATION"

The Louisville Courier-Journal calls the new preferential trade agreement between Canada and Australia "concerted retaliation against the present American tariff"; a reprisal "against the Grundy-Hoover duties."

Colonel Watterson, who made the Courier-Journal famous for accuracy and fairness, would turn in his grave if he read that statement in the editorial columns he conducted so ably for so many years.

Australia and Canada have had preferential trade relations ever since 1925. Was the agreement of that year a reprisal against an American tariff enacted in 1930?

The assumption that the new agreement is any more retaliatory than the original convention is as absurd as the contention that the establishment of American branch factories in Canada since the enactment of the latest Canadian tariff legislation marks a new departure attributable to the "Grundy-Hoover duties." There were more than 1,500 American branch plants in Canada before the present American tariff was spread on the books. They have been flocking there ever since Sir John A. Macdonald brought down his "national policy" in 1873.

Arthur Meighen defined the tariff policy of the Conservatory party of Canada in 1926 in these words:

"What we propose in respect of industrial products is a tariff based definitely, firmly, consistently on the protective principle, applicable over the whole range of Canadian products, and a tariff sufficient to enable Canadian industry, well managed, to employ Canadians and to expand in Canada as the country grows."

The present Conservative regime in Ottawa would have carried out that policy even if the United States had still been under the Underwood schedules.

NOT A SHYLOCK

Adopting the role of apologist for his country, a "spokesman" for Premier Pierre Laval protests that "France is not a Shylock."

The epithet involved is one that the French themselves applied freely to the United States because it insisted that the government in Paris should agree to pay its just debts to this country, and if they find it coming home to roost as a result of their stiff attitude while all the remainder of the world has been trying to save the international situation by seeing what can be done to help Germany, they have only themselves to blame.

Those who reside in glass edifices ought not to hurl rocks. The charge that was ridiculous when made against this country, sticks when hurled at France. And evidence that the French government realizes its position is provided in the announcement that there is to be no more insistence in Paris that the German-Austrian customs union be given up, or that Germany's naval plans be dropped as a part of the high price of assistance from Gallic bankers.

France clearly realizes that it is in wrong. Even so, we are afraid it is too much to expect that its recession will be really a graceful or good-natured one.

It's curious that the Reds allow the city named after their chief hero, Lenin, to go to rack and ruin. Yet maybe it's not so curious. Most of Lenin's ideas are being discarded, too.

It was Wilhelm who brought about the infection of Russia with the Red virus and that ought to be another reason why the Germans don't care to have him back.

Why should anybody want to walk a tight rope over Niagara Falls when it is much easier and pleasanter to ride over in a plane?

Money, money everywhere, with everybody hanging onto it like grim death.

The careless pedestrian is quite apt to become a careless motorist, too, when he gets behind a wheel.

If you have a prejudice against mosquitoes, gently but firmly decline to go on that lovely camping trip.

MY NEW YORK

—BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—Wide-eyed wanderings: Downtown during the noon hour... Reflection that if Wall Street has a cemetery at one end and a river at the other, it can be said with equal veracity to run between a church and a mission... the sidewalk hawkers of this and that, making better livings, maybe, than some of the gentlemen in the tall buildings on either side...

Uptown in 42d street and a pause at the Cameo to see Clarence Darrow in "The Mystery of Life"... The mystery unsolved, am forced to report... The couple cooling at each other in the back row as Mr. Darrow comments on the love life of the amoeba; the pair losing interest in any mystery except that of themselves after the film begins to explore the sex habits of sea urchins and crickets... Mr. Darrow's comment on an orang-utan: "See, he looks like me—thoughtful."

"HOT PUPS," 5c

The Newsreel Theatre this week has an extended ad for Coney Island, full of references to "let joy be unconfined" and things like that... I go to Coney Island at least once a year, impelled by a deep frailty of character... This summer I don't know... The hot-dogs and the dazzling lawdriness and the bruises of the midways may lose out yet... There are counter-influences.

For instance, I used to think the resort was a happily vulgar and care-free place, where you could do pretty much as you pleased.

My sleuths inform me now that last Sunday 520 would-be merry-makers were arrested and fined, thus:

Group of young men, for tossing a rubber ball about, $1 each.

Another group, both sexes, for sitting or a railing of the boardwalk—$1 each.

Quite a few, for bringing their own chairs and sitting on them—$1 each.

Several, for renting their rooms to people wishing to don bathing suits—$1 each.

Many, for playing leap-frog on the beach—$1 each.

A large number, for letting down shoulder straps of suits—$1 each.

And, a host, for peddling without licenses—$1 to $2 each.

Although you can still sit on the sand and even dig in it a little, it may resist, under the circumstances, the old impulse for hoarse and milling carnival.

But, after all, it's too hot to write tonight. And the first full glow of Coney against the sea sky makes you think of a toy room full of creations out of those structural-steel miniature girders children love—and all lighted up by millions of pin-point globes. Moreover, this will be work; ought to be a column in Coney any night.

TURN-ABOUT

In the E. 10th St. home of Arthur Garfield Hays, the lawyer, there's a full-fledged pipe organ for the top-floor studio of Mrs. Hays, who is a famous fabric designer. She reveals a sort of pact in effect between the Hays household and the neighbors—who are, by the way, some of the best known society folk in town.

Nothing has ever been formally arranged, but the agreement holds just the same. Whenever the organ notes swell out into the summer dusk, the blare of radios ceases with a surprising suddenness. Strange as it seems, the residents of the district prefer the "Cantata and Fugue in D Minor" to the excursions of Messrs. Downey and Vallee.

Either that, or the organ is too lusty for them.

OLD FATHER HUBBARD

CAPITAL UNCONSCIOUS OF SOUTHWEST'S PERIL AS HARVESTING READY TO BEGIN

—CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Official Washington has been singularly unconscious of what was about to happen as soon as the southwest's farmers began harvesting wheat. Absorbed in its handling of the European situation, the administration evidently had no realization of the coming danger west of the Mississippi.

Instead, the hope was expressed in exalted quarters that, with a start on the task of getting in the season's bounteous crops, there would be an appreciable lessening in the economic tension throughout the home country.

Strange to relate, few individuals in high governmental posts appear to have grasped the idea that no such improvement would follow, but decidedly the contrary. If the prices of these crops proved insufficient to balance the amount of money spent in producing them. Vice-President Charles Curtis was an exception. He obviously could see the peril and unmistakably has been desperately worried for weeks past. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, who has spent most of his time in the capital since congress adjourned, also has given indications of profound anxiety. Others among the national lawmakers, scattered throughout the land, far from Washington, doubtless have read the signs aright. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Dunlap, with whom I discussed farm prospects several weeks ago, likewise expressed himself so dismally that he refused to permit his predictions to be attributed to him, and they therefore were wasted.

Generally speaking, however, the tone of recent official comment has been to the effect that the European moratorium had given a turn in the right direction to world economics, including America's—that the worst of the depression was over.

The suddenness with which the news began to arrive of the disastrous state of affairs (huge crops but less than bargain counter prices) in Kansas especially, but not much better in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas, was astonishing.

Up to mid-July accounts from the early wheat belt, while not cheerful, at least had implied no actual agricultural crisis.

The "story," as newspapermen express it, "broke" in the afternoon editions of July 16. On that date the press started fairly to overflow with dispatches describing the dire straits of Sunflower State grain growers. Prophecies of a Communist revolution, or the establishment of a Hitlerite dictatorship in Germany were crowded from first pages by telegrams telling of the clamor for a domestic agricultural moratorium, to save thousands of farmers from the loss of their acres under foreclosure. Such incidents as the dumping of surplus wheat by the truckload on prairie highways and the plowing under of whole fields of it to save expenses of harvesting, were published by the column.

This simply was the first day's output.

All indications are for more of the same indefinitely. Following up Kansas' outcry, the rest of the southwest is yet to be heard from in detail. The more northerly and consequently later-producing states are almost entirely held in reserve thus far, presumably (judging from preliminary hints by such spokesmen as Senators Norris, Brookhart and Nye) to add volume to the chorus presently.

Administrationists in Washington give every evidence of having been taken completely by surprise by this upsurge.

Alert politicians, of course, should have been prepared for it. Still, the present administration is not very wide awake agriculturally.

ALL of US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Oh, Why So Sad? Load Not Entirely on Your Shoulders

Why So Arrogant? Young Fellow, why so solemn? Young Lady, why wear so sad a face?

Laugh a little! Be silly occasionally! The time you spend in being silly will not all be wasted!

The world has its troubles, I know, but need you bear them all on your young shoulders? There was, of course, that ancient historian of mankind into seven sad words. They were born, they suffered, they died! But need you wear that gloomy digest branded forever on your brow?

To be sure, men are born in the pain of their mothers, but their births bring joy to those same mothers, who are glad even as they suffer.

To be sure, men suffer. And when they are unhappy, they remember only the misery they have known. But in between the suffering, like streaks of gold, are the long-remembered moments of peace and beauty. And sometimes the suffering is good, and strengthening, and blessed.

And, to be sure, men die...

But they have lived before that, and many of them die splendidly and leave a rich history behind them, and as they lie in death there is a grateful look about them that seems to be saying to all their friends, "Do not grieve for me—all is well!"

All is true, the evil and the agony and the despair. But you need not bear it all. You may sing, you may laugh, you may dance, you may be young! You may be Yourself! The lad walking gloomily along with his head sunk between his shoulders is a pitiful sight. The lass with the desolate air is tragically pathetic, and need not be. He plays the role of Hamlet, she plays the sad Cassandra, who wept through the streets of Troy. They are children who take the troubles of their elders too seriously.

Oh, wipe those eyes and blow your nose and lift the corners of that grieving mouth and observe that flowers bloom gaily and children laugh and the sun sets in splendor and the world is more amusing than the disappointed grown-ups have informed you. And be your young, young selves, with the burden of your melancholy flung down in the dust of the road behind you.

Besides his lack of experience as a farmer, President Hoover himself unquestionably was preoccupied with his program of European economic rehabilitation.

Of the members of his official family, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and perhaps Secretary of War Hurley, as an Oklahoman, though not a farmer, might especially have been expected to point out the danger to their chief, but these two are somewhat notably of the "yes" type of advisers rather than equipped with the required hardihood to convey an unpleasant warning to a superior not generally considered partial to disagreeable suggestions.

It is, to be sure, possible that hints at threatening developments were conveyed to Mr. Hoover but not seriously considered by him.

Scotch Chicken a la King
Boiled Rice
Tomato Salad
Berry Pie
Iced Coffee
Scotch chicken a la king is, of course, a cheaper kind of meat used in place of chicken. Veal could also be used as a substitute.

Today's Recipes

Scotch "Chicken" a la King.—One and one-half cups diced roast pork, one can chicken broth, one and one-half cups milk, one-third cup flour, one egg, twelve to fifteen stuffed olives, one tablespoon butter, salt, pepper. Add milk to flour, then add chicken broth, beaten egg, butter, and seasoning. Cook till thick, stirring constantly. Rinse olives in cold water, then cut in halves. Add diced pork and olives to sauce. Cook a few minutes longer, then serve on buttered triangles of toast, with sprig of parsley. The olives in the sauce taste like mushrooms, and also supply the pimento. This is a delicious dish, which can be made from left-over roast pork. Not only does it look like chicken a la king, but it tastes like it, too.

Suggestions

Codfish, Spaghetti and Tomatoes.—One-half pound salt codfish, diced; two cups spaghetti, broken in small pieces; one quart canned tomatoes, two bay leaves, one onion, sliced; two tablespoons chopped parsley, two tablespoons olive oil or other fat, one-fourth cup chopped olives, salt if needed. Soak the codfish in cold water to cover for two hours or longer, until sufficient salt has been removed, and drain. Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender, and drain. Simmer the tomatoes and codfish with the bay leaves for about 20 minutes, and remove the bay leaves. Cook the onion and parsley in the olive oil for a few minutes, combine all the ingredients, and cook for a few minutes longer. Serve hot.

Fair Height, Weight Are Charted

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Rigid standards for the growth and development of children can not be laid down. Normal babies do not vary widely one from another in size and rate of growth, but after the period of infancy development is not uniform in all individuals. Hereditary influences begin to make themselves felt, and if a child is going to be a small adult, his rate of growth is not the same as if he is destined for large bodily size.

Weight and height are, however, the best general standards of normal growth and development. Other things being equal, growing child who is ten per cent below the average weight for his age is abnormal, but, if he shows no disease on physical examination, the difference may be disregarded. This is not a usual situation, however, because such a child almost invariably will be found to have something the matter with it.

Height is a more reliable standard than weight. Height cannot be influenced by diet or exercise, but weight can. There is no way we know to make a child grow or to stop excessive height.

There are seasonal variations in growth. Summer is the time of more increase in height and weight than winter. From June to November the average child leads a freer, more out-of-doors existence, with more activity, and consequently less infection and illness, and hence is the period of greatest growth.

Fatigue is an influential factor in growth. It is a curious thing that after a good night's rest both children and adults are slightly taller (1 to 3 centimeters) than after a day of activity.

It is not simple to construct a condensed height and weight table for children. Boys and girls vary slightly. At 3 years different boys may be 35 to 39 inches tall and weigh from 29 to 35 pounds.

Leaving out too many refinements we may put down averages as follows:

Boys
Years	Inches Tall	Pounds
3	37	32
4	39	35
5	42	39
6	43-49	41-55

12	54-61	71-96
13	56-64	78-111
14	58-67	85-128
Girls
Years	Inches Tall	Pounds
3	37	31½

Modern Females Are Scandalous

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

The worm has turned again. A Mere Male writes his answer to the girls who complain of the morals of the men.

"DEAR MISS LEE: This is a letter in reply to the girls who write to you complaining about how hard it is to find decent men nowadays."

"I often wonder whether it ever occurs to them how hard it is to find decent girls. How can the multitudes of girls who drink and smoke expect to get good men? In my opinion a girl who indulges in such habits is not fit to be a wife, without mentioning the sacred name of mother."

"And look at the way they dress on the beaches—or rather, undress. No wonder men are losing respect for women."

"So, girls, the next time you feel like complaining about decent boys being hard to find, think about this letter and it might help you to keep still."

"MERE MALE."

Of course, Mere Male, women who drink and smoke are only imitating Mere Men who have done these things for hundreds of years and always expected decent women to love, respect and marry them, and who think themselves fit to be called by the sacred name of father.

And, really your sex doesn't wear much more on the beaches than you do in the city. It does seem to me that if women can respect men and love them after seeing them in the dress—or undress—in bathing suits, it ought not to be too hard on the men to reciprocate.

Which might bring up the old argument as to which sex has the most influence with the other. Do men regulate their conduct to please the women? Or do women dress—or undress—as you please—eat, smoke, and drink go to the good sports? The men want them to be?

Keep Glad For Beauty

—By GLADYS GLAD

There are many people who prefer to spend their vacations in places where those little luxuries of living that even the poorest of us have become more or less accustomed to, are available. But there are also many people who experience a "back to nature" desire to rough it, to camp in the wide open spaces during their summer holidays.

From the standpoint of health, camping out of doors is an excellent way to spend the summer months. But from the standpoint of beauty, it is likely to prove the last word in unkindness. For few complexions can withstand cold water cleansings night and morning for very long. And there aren't many skins that can retain their loveliness when given only cream cleansings during an entire vacation period. The excess of oil in the skin, coupled with the cream cleansings, over-lubricate the skin, and complexion troubles arise.

There are any number of summer camps and country resorts that offer their patrons only showers for bathing. Some of them do not even provide that. And on a camping trip, naturally almost all the comforts of civilization must be dispensed with. For many people, the whole fun in camping lies in just that fact.

Nevertheless, the skin should be given at least one warm water cleansing a day. If you're a camper, you can heat water for washing your face over your campfire. It may be a bit bothersome, but you can and must do it, if you prize the loveliness of your complexion at all. And if you're going to spend your vacation at some antiquated country resort where hot water isn't available, carry along with you a cheap little electric stove—or even some of that "canned heat"—and warm the water with which you cleanse your face every day.

You should also take a warm

PINCH HITTING for Phil Frame by R. A. H.

It will be interesting to note if the bleacher umpires will hold their peace now that they have had their inning of softball and were humiliated by a defeat at the hands of the butchers.

It looks as if the scheme of getting these fans into a game, such as was done at Cox Field as a feature of the community picnic Wednesday, was a neat way of hushing them up.

What can "Tiny" Smith say now to "Brownie" Herr, if the latter is a little fiddle with the stick? And what advice can Ex-Sheriff Tate give the Downtown Country Club now that he has proved he is no Babe Ruth? And what will George Henkle tell Clark Eckerle, now that he has fanned three times in three times at bat?

All of these are pertinent questions that will be answered during games from now on. It may be that Bill Frayer's voice will be the only raised from the bleacher section, since he was one of the fans who didn't commit himself on his ability by playing with the old-timers Wednesday.

Pete Fisher has sent word to this column that he is mad because of a statement that he refused to play softball for fear of ruining his amateur standing. If this columnist's remains are found in a dark alley some night, all the papers will be found in the upper left hand desk drawer.

Mickey Walker's amazing showing against Jack Sharkey in the milk fund show at New York, in which he earned a draw with the big Lithuanian with the Irish name, was responsible for that noticeable silence in local barber shops Thursday.

The boys picked Sharkey to win handily, by a knockout at least (as who wouldn't?). Walker's showing, therefore, not only caused considerable argument among the ring-side fans and the experts, but it upset local theories considerably. Sharkey is big enough and tough enough to whip Walker, but the little fellow was plenty game and proved he is no punk.

Inter-city golf matches have been dropped as a part of the golf program of the Xenia Country Club but the boys got a lot of fun out of an intra-club tournament last week.

The inter-city affairs used to be a feature of the club's golfing activities, but grew unpopular for several reasons. Now golfers are certain of plenty of rivalry, good matches on a good course, and a good meal to follow, by playing among themselves. The losers paid for the dinners at a party celebrating the tourney Tuesday evening.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 24.—Slight recoveries in German government bonds and further moderate declines in American industrial stocks and specialties were the principal features of a dull and quiet market this morning. The usual over-night accumulation of selling orders of outside traders and professionals forced the leaders a point or so under Thursday's final prices. United States Steel lost about 2 points and dipped under 92 as Wall Street again expressed concern about the result of next Tuesday's dividend action of the directors.

THE BOYS ARE GOOD

For the second time within a week the W. Church St. boys were victorious over the W. Third St. boys in a softball game Thursday morning played in Wilson field, W. Church St. The Church St. boys won by a score of 33 to 26. Carvel Smalley pitched for the winners with Bobby Criss catching while John Brill was pitcher for the losers and Jimmy Bloom was catcher.

Shoemakers Advance In American Loop Race

STRONG HURLING BY LUTTRELL DEFEATS ST. BRIGID OUTFIT

Winners Within Half Game Of Leaders; Score Is 4 To 0

Effective pitching by Luttrell, who fanned six, enabled the Krippendorf-Dittmann softball team to defeat St. Brigid's in an American League game at Cox Field Thursday evening by the score of 4 to 0.

The victory put the shoemakers within half a game of the league-leading All-Stars and pushed the parochial lads further into the cellar.

Luttrell permitted but seven hits and was especially strong with men on bases. Hornick also pitched ably, allowing the shoemakers but nine safeties, three of which were bunched with two errors in the seventh to permit three runs to cross the plate. The victors had previously taken the lead by scoring once in the first after Ernst led off with a hit.

Pesavento also opened for St. Brigid with a hit, his blow going for two bases, but he expired on the sacks as his mates were unable to advance him. Two fast double plays, Pesavento to Fletcher to Murray and Fletcher to Pesavento to Murray, helped the losers in keeping the score within respectable limits.

Anderson and Foody each hit safely twice for the last players while Green got two blows in two trips for the winners.

The champion Langs will tackle the Graham Paints in a National League game at the yard Friday evening. Box score:

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT
Written for Central Press and The Gazette

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series of instructive golf articles written by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane, national champion and America's best known woman golfer for Central Press Association and The Gazette.

Number 6
BALANCE!
Just a little, two-syllable word but oh-how important to the golf beginner!

In hitting the ball the main essential is balance—balance in motion. Watching any golf duffer one usually finds that she lacks this quality.

The player must turn her body to get the club over her shoulders in a position from which to hit the ball and, in doing this, the weight of the body must be considered.

The shift of the weight concerns mainly the hips and the toes.

Your weight must travel in the same direction as the clubhead. By that I mean that it goes to the right as the clubhead is taken back and then it comes over to the left as the clubhead is swung down into the ball.

Watch yourself on your next practice swings. Observing carefully this transference of weight will save any number of dubbed shots.

In our next golf chat I'll try to tell you how to get your mashie stroke under control.

MERCHANTS TO PLAY HOLLYWOOD GIRLS' TEAM HERE NEXT WEEK

Manager Jess Chambliss of the Xenia Merchants will send his athletes against the Dayton Racers Sunday in the first of a three-game series with the Dayton team. The games will not be played on consecutive Sundays, however.

Manager Bill Clemons of the Dayton team believes he has a strong line-up to use against the Xenia team but Chambliss thinks the young players he has added to his club recently have helped to make the Merchants even more feared than ever.

He will turn the pitching assignment over to Jasper Ankeney Sunday and have Big Joe Smittle behind the bat. The visitors have authorized the following line-up.

THIEVES LOOT SAFE OF GRAIN ELEVATOR

The second robbery within a few weeks at the elevator of the New Era Grain Co., at Bowersville, was being investigated Friday by Sheriff John Baughn, and detectives connected with the National Protective Association, Columbus.

Burglars who entered the office by prying off the tin that had been tacked up to replace the glass broken by the previous raid, worked the combination on the safe and robbed it of $18.70. The combination written on a slip of paper was in a concealed place beneath the drawer in the cash register.

At the time of the first robbery a few weeks ago, $71.25 was taken from the cash register.

Detectives from Columbus assisted in the investigation of the latest burglary are J. L. Boggs and W. R. Logan.

Manager Chambliss also announced that he has booked an unusual attraction for Tuesday evening when the Hollywood Movie Stars Girls baseball team plays the Merchants here at 6 p. m. Girls noted for their beauty play all positions on the team.

Pat Richards, vaudeville revue artist and who appeared in the Warner Bros. musical, "The March of Time," is the pitcher. All players on the team are under 21 years of age and all are ready to play a full nine innings of baseball.

Besides the players, personal appearances will be made at Washington Park by a number of film beauties who accompany the team. They include Vivian Pearson, Hollywood's "Miss 1931," who played with El Brendel in "Women of All Nations," Shannon Day, Paramount featured player who played opposite Richard Dix in "The Vanishing American," "North of the Rio Grande" and "Forbidden Fruit"; Natalie Harrison, featured Warner Bros. dancer who scored in "Madame Satan" and Jackie "Freckles" Hoo Ray" had boy of the Our Gang comedies.

BATTALINO BEATS MILLER HANDILY

CINCINNATI, July 24.—Bat Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., world's featherweight champion, who is supposed to be a "pushover," today had again proved his right to the crown. He successfully defended his title here last night against Freddie Miller, Cincinnati champion, and gave a worthy exhibition.

Miller was lucky to escape a kayo.

Battalino knocked Miller down twice in the eighth round for counts of nine. The bell finally saved the challenger and he managed to go the distance. The champion won practically every round.

The referee and judges gave the champion the unanimous decision. A crowd of 12,000 saw the bout. Battalino weighed 125 and Miller a quarter of a pound less.

SAUSAGES FINANCE OCEAN FLIGHT

Sausages, be it known, are responsible for the successful transatlantic flight of George Endre and Alexander Magyar, from New York to Budapest, in the Justice for Hungary. Emil Szalay, inset, the baker, staked the fortune he has made in sausages on the flight. Above is a view of his factory, at Flint, Mich.

Modern Horatius Hold Span!

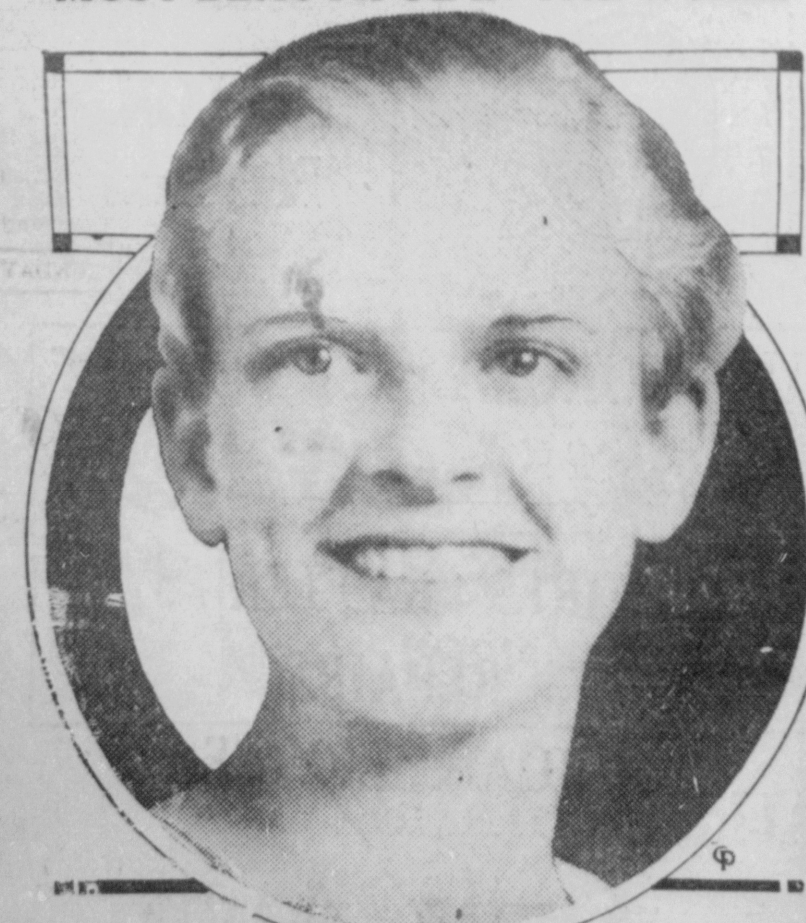

As in the time of Horatius, a bridge is the all-important matter in a dispute between Texas and Oklahoma. W. R. Sterling, adjutant-general of Texas, in white trousers and rifle in hands, is shown on guard at the newly-built bridge between Denison, Tex., and Durant, Okla. Because the two States cannot agree as to whether the bridge should be free or a toll span, Texas Rangers are on guard to prevent Oklahomans from crossing. Next to Sterling is Capt. Tom Hickman of the Rangers. The U. S. District Court has ordered the bridge closed until difficulties can be overcome.

TOO WET, TOO DRY, FACE RECALL

Prohibition is responsible for the troubles of these two gentlemen. Mayor John C. Porter, left, of Los Angeles, faces recall proceedings because of his refusal to drink wine toasts in France, this summer; Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta, Ga., who also went to France, is in danger of being ousted because his constituents think he is too wet. Some jokester asks why they can't switch.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL IN THE WORLD"

Enough collegians wrote "I solemnly swear that she is the most beautiful girl in all the world to me," on their ballots, to elect Miss Mildred Womble of Raleigh, N. C., as the most beautiful girl at the North Carolina State college summer school, at Raleigh. Last fall she was awarded a similar honor at the Peace Junior College for Women, also at Raleigh.

JOINS HER SONS AFTER 27 YEARS

After 27 years Mrs. Lazar Lachman is reunited with her two sons, above, Maurice, left, and Abraham. The boys left their home in Russia 27 years ago to go to European capitals to study medicine, then they came to the United States. The revolution deprived their father, Dr. Lazar Lachman, of his wealth and his 12 remaining children were scattered throughout Russia by Soviet order. Two years ago he and his wife decided to come to America to join their sons, but the Soviet government refused to permit them to leave. Dr. Lachman died recently and shortly afterwards his wife was given a passport. Photo shows her with her sons, following her arrival in a San Francisco.

Back After 38 Years

Sentenced to two years in jail for forgery nearly 40 years ago in a small Nebraska town, Charles E. Johnson (above) escaped with only seven months of his sentence to run. Now after 38 years of wandering, during which he escaped death in a shipwreck, finally married and settled down, he has given himself up to the authorities of Lincoln, Nebraska. Johnson has several children living in Washington.

Hailed in Opera

Grace Fisher (above), of Buffalo, N. Y., received unstinted praise from critics of the opera and newspapers when she made her brilliant debut as Nedda in Pagliacci at Milan, Italy. The American girl's acting was described as vibrant and interpretive as her remarkable voice. A highly successful career has been predicted for Miss Fisher by experts.

King Sticks to Side Crease

The prerogatives of royalty and women appear to include wearing what they want to whenever they want to. Here's King George, for instance, still sticking to trousers pressed on the sides instead of down the front like most mortals. True, too, the gray bowler hat is probably no more pronounced than the royal trousers. The king is shown shaking hands with D. R. Jardine, captain of the English cricket team, during a lull in the England-New Zealand match.

May Lead Legion Hold Wife in Death

For many years one of the leaders in the national councils of the American Legion, and a national vice commander, George M. Malone (above) was unanimously endorsed for national commander of the World War veterans' organization by the department of Nevada through its state executive committee. By this action of Malone's home state, the legionnaire's hat was formally tossed into the ring.

World Dry Chief

Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been vice president of the World's W. C. T. U., as well as president of the United States branch, was elected president of the world-wide dry organization at its convention held at Toronto, Ontario, Canada. At the conference of W. C. T. U. workers at which Mrs. Boole (above) was elected, the organization went on record in opposition to putting the government in the liquor business.

On Honeymoon

William Powell (below) noted film actor, and his bride, the former Carole Lombard (above), also of the movies, have sailed for a honeymoon in Honolulu. Their wedding was quiet and free from all publicity, only immediate relatives of the bride and groom attending the nuptials. Powell is 38 and his wife 22.

Bound for Happy Cruises

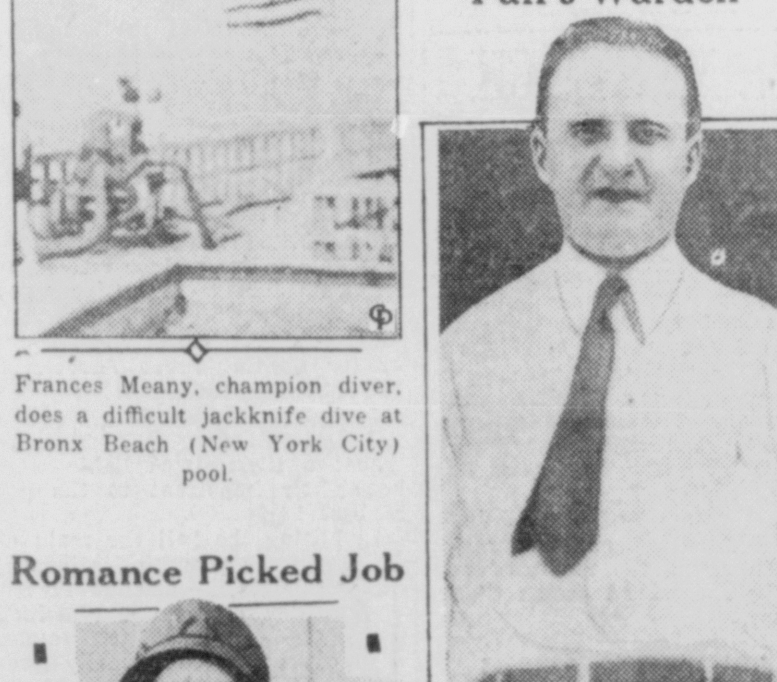

The second largest craft of its type ever constructed in the United States, the new Diesel yacht Caroline, built for Eldridge R. Johnston, Moorestown, N. Fittler, of Philadelphia, christened the new floating palace.

She's a Star! Sets Speed Record

James Goodwin Hall (above), New York broker, shattered fast air records by flying from New York to Havana, Cuba, in eight hours and 35 minutes. Arriving there, he announced his ambition to fly back to New York in even less time. Hall smashed Capt. Frank Hawks' record of eight hours and 48 minutes by his speedy New York-Havana hop.

Will Xenia be without a church Sunday as far as you are concerned? When you do not attend some church, you by your act declare that as far as you are concerned Xenia has no church today. The church is for your eternal good. Attend church.

9:15 a. m. Sunday School. Manned by qualified teachers. You can send your children safely to this school of the Bible.

10:30 a. m. Morning worship. If there is a breeze you find it in our auditorium. A chorus choir leads the congregational singing. Sermon "Christ Thoughts on Depressions." Children's object lesson sermon.

7:30 p. m. Union services. The Reformed Church. Rev. W. N. Shank is preacher. You are invited.

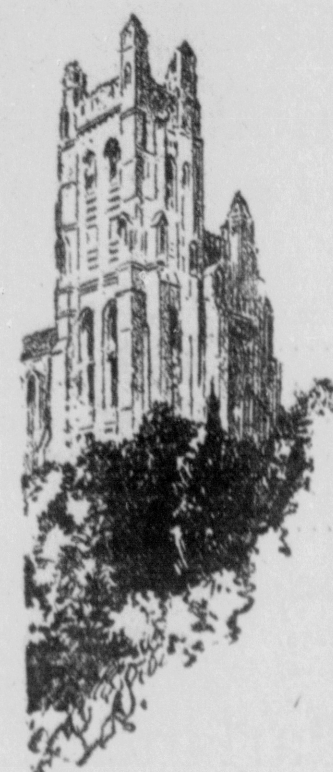

How busy are you? Not too busy to give one hour to public worship of your God.

How To Worship

Oh come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our Maker.—Psalm 95:6.

WE are slowly learning the value of worship. It re-orientates the soul, broadens our sympathies, and renews courage. Worship helps turn tragedies into triumphs.

But not all know how to worship. If the service fails to satisfy, the lack is less often in the sermon or the music than in the attitude of the worshipper. Some have never discovered the technique of reverence, or the sacredness of silence. Above all, we need pre-worship preparation—coming to Church in unhurried mood, shutting the door on cares and problems, seeking God! For God "satisfieth the longing soul."

To Travelers

You will find new Churches more interesting than other new things you see. Besides this, attending Church will help you avoid a moral let-down while away from home. You will be welcome in any of our Churches.

To Parents

It is no mere idle theory that you reap what you sow—nature proves it on every side. Why not help safeguard the future of your children by having them at Sunday School every Sunday?

Subject—"Christianity Spread by Persecution."

Golden Text—"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of Life." Rev. 2:10.

A new religion or new doctrine always meets opposition and if its adherents become zealous in promoting it, persecution is bound to arise from those who are afraid of their positions in the old. It was inevitable that Christianity should meet persecutions. Persecutions are testing times, when one who takes up a new cause, being in the minority, is abused physically and every other way because of his stand. Persecutions also are a part of the struggle of new ideas to gain an ascendancy.

The cause of the persecution of the Christians by the authorities in Jerusalem was that they were unable to see in it the flower and consummation of the very life of their own precious faith. These men did their utmost to exterminate this new aggressive religion which seemed to mean so much to its followers. Every new impetus of the disciples brought forth protests from the leaders. Every attempt on the part of the Jewish authorities to suppress the followers of this "way" only seemed to make them more in earnest.

One man of the group of early Christian leaders seemed to arouse the ire of the persecutors more than any other. It was a young man by the name of Stephen. He put things in such a fair forcible way that "they were not able to withstand the wisdom and the spirit by which he spake." Usually, when we find some one who can get the best of us by his arguments, we try physical force upon him. Persecutors try first wordy intimidations, endeavoring to brow beat, their victim into submission and silence. When other means fail—persecutors start physical violence. The leaders incited the people to a riot no doubt expecting to rescue Stephen and give him a trial in an orderly fashion. The mob soon got beyond the control of the men who started it. The wrath of the group was centered upon Stephen. He faced the angry crowd, giving them one of the great Christian treatises on origin and relationships of Christ's religion. The mob hurried Stephen without the city and stoned him.

Nearly, guarding the clothes of the men, who were heaving the rocks, was a young Rabbi, a graduate of one of the best teachers in Jerusalem. He consented to the death, and the events incident to the stoning of Stephen, Saul of Tarsus, manifested the fundamental elements of great leadership. He was placed in charge of the furious persecution of all Christians. He became a terror to all who believed in Christ.

One incident of the stoning of Stephen which cannot be overlooked was his fine spirit. He assumed the attitude of kneeling as he prayed for those who were killing him. The record of the historian described this wonderful forgiving spirit of Stephen, and called attention to the light that shone in his face. Apparently every one who saw this light on Stephen's face never forgot it.

This event proved, that though depressing and sad at first sight it was the most signal way of promoting the Gospel and developing the church of Jesus Christ. The persecution which grew out of this event scattered the disciples all over that part of the world—and like fire brands where ever they went. "They therefore that were scattered went abroad preaching the word." The church grew out of persecution.

It is right for us to want to be happy and to always manifest the largest expressions of life. But to seek happiness at the sadness of others is decidedly wrong. Or to seek happiness at the expense of our future health is not right. There are so many wholesome ways in which we can have happiness, we should be ashamed to try any, but the best. Jesus Christ expressed himself many times that he wanted people to be happy. Christ's sort of happiness lasts for ever and ever.

The Theater

The big game in Hollywood now is guessing which way the cinema wind will blow.

A good many producers think the modified Western is the way for a run of popularity. RKO-Pathé, for instance, will keep Bill Boyd for out-of-doors pictures in the future. His next after "Suicide Fleet" is "The Timber Beast," a story of the lumber camps. Marion Jackson, veteran scenarist, is the author and she is collaborating with on Ryan on the adaptation. In the meanwhile, Bill and Mrs. Boyd (Dorothy Sebastian) are away on their boat somewhere. As one of these two is a strange

The magazine is now conducting its eleventh annual balloting among movie fans to select the best picture released during 1930. The winner is awarded the Photoplay gold medal, a coveted honor. The ten pictures that have won the award since it was instituted, are: "Humoresque," "Tolable David," "Robin Hood," "The Covered Wagon," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Big Parade," "Beau Geste," "Seventh Heaven," "Four Sons," and last year, "Disraeli."

Citizens' Public Service Co., the city would have an obligation to buy electricity from both the Dayton Power and Light Co., and the Citizens Public Service Co.

The Dayton Power and Light Co. vs. James Jones, et al., as the board of elections of Greene County, O.; The Dayton Power and Light Co. vs. Harry Higgins as clerk et al.

The case decided by Judge Jones in the light controversy, are:

The state ex rel William H. Donges et al., vs. City Commissioners of the city of Xenia, a mandamus action to compel commission to submit the present Dayton Power and Light franchise to a referendum.

Opening his decision the court says: "These cases are intimately connected and involve practically the same questions, and can be disposed of in one opinion. The pleadings and exhibits are very voluminous, and counsel have been at great pains to endeavor to aid the court by full presentation on brief, which is duly appreciated, and the case has received earnest and careful consideration at my hands. While I have every reason to expect that the action of this court will be reviewed by a higher tribunal, it has not prevented me from using my best efforts in arriving at a decision. As the matter should be disposed of as early as possible in this court, I do not deem it necessary or expedient to enter into a very lengthy decision, or to quote copiously from the authorities which I will cite."

In the first case, the plaintiff is seeking to enjoin a submission to popular vote of two initiative ordinances the first of which grants a franchise to the Citizens Public Service Co. The court held that the ordinance granting the franchise to the Citizens' company is subject to and should be submitted to referendum. This holding carries with it the sustaining of the demurrer in the plaintiff's first cause of action, and the dismissal of such cause.

In the second cause of action of this petition, which seeks to restrain the submission of the initiative ordinance granting a limited franchise to the plaintiff, the court pointed out that the Dayton company averred that it did not ask for this franchise and would not accept it if it was granted. If it did so, it might as well surrender everything it is contending for in this case, the court held, and submission of such an ordinance to popular vote would be simply farcical as the result of the vote would not in any way change the relation of the parties. The injunction on this ordinance was made perpetual.

Passing on the second case, which was before the court on answer filed by the Citizens company and a demurrer on the part of the city commission, the court held the city charter provision with relation to utility ordinances is unconstitutional.

"The constitution," the court points out, "has made special provision for a referendum upon ordinance of the charter described in the petition. There is no question but that the petitioners for the repeal in this case might have availed themselves of this provision, and undoubtedly would have been entitled to a referendum vote upon these original ordinances. There is no claim made that they did so, and the time has passed in which they could take advantage of the constitutional provisions just referred to. However, for some reason, failing to avail themselves of this undisputed right, they have proceeded under Section 64 of the charter of Xenia and asked the commission to repeal the ordinances in question, or submit the question of such repeal to a popular vote."

"Under the terms of this section in the charter the ordinance had not gone into effect at the time the petitions for repeal were filed. It is somewhat difficult to understand how a law not in effect could be repealed. In my judgment the remedy of the petitioners in this case is by the constitutional provision which is paramount, and they should have sought a referendum under that provision, and not under the supposed authority of the charter. As already pointed out, the petitioners had the undoubted right to obtain such a referendum but they allowed the time to pass without acting under the constitution. This court is of the opinion that the provision of the charter of Xenia in this respect is inconsistent with and contrary to the constitutional provision and the method of procedure to obtain a referendum on these ordinances and that the constitutional rule is exclusive.

"It would also seem in any event, that the plaintiff in this case is correct in the claim that an ordinance can only be repealed by another ordinance. The act which repeals an ordinance must be of equal dignity with the act which establishes it."

The demurrer to the petition in this case was overruled and the temporary restraining order made perpetual, at the costs of the Citizens Public Service Co..

and I NEVER BOIL My colored clothes look BRIGHTER too. You'll get INSTANT suds in LUKEWARM WATER From either CHIPSO FLAKES Or CHIPSO GRANULES."

Good.. they've got to be good!

It doesn't "just happen" that Chesterfield holds its smokers. Milder! You never get that "over-smoked" feeling. Always cool and comfortable. They're made that way. And they keep on tasting better! The last Chesterfield of the day is as mild and smooth as the first. No purer, better-tasting cigarette can be made!

THEY CARRY ON! 87,034 TELEGRAPH and RADIO OPERATORS [IN THE U.S.A.] "stick to their guns," no matter what!

The first letter of the telegrapher's code is "L" for Loyalty. Many lives have been saved by the operator's last stand. You're proud to know folks who look at duty like that!
